

Lift Pass & Ski Hire Combo for £39 Creates Massive Savings on Inclusive Short Break Ski Holidays in 2022

With both Christmas and New Year falling on weekends at the end of 2021 this has prompted most tour operators to shift their festive departures to a weekday. This has presented a unique opportunity for the savvy consumer to capitalise on not only a cheaper short-break ski week in the new year, but also to take advantage of some incredibly punchy savings when booking an inclusive ski holiday.

All Mine for £39

Skiworld are offering a lift pass and ski hire for the rock-bottom price of just £39 when booked as part of an inclusive Ski All-In Deal for ski holidays departing on January 3rd. The five-night holidays also include flights from Gatwick, Manchester or Birmingham, airport transfers and catered chalet board - four days of breakfast, afternoon tea and three or four course evening meal with wine included. Holiday prices start from £686pp, with savings up to a whopping £249pp.

Private Catered Chalets

Skiworld's catered chalets in this offer are bookable for sole-use of one group per property in 2022. Chalets sleep anywhere from six to seventeen people – and as the chalet is all yours, you can decide if you want to fill all the beds or leave a little more room for comfort.
